

Here's an Express Myself activity you can complete at any time you fancy this term.

Storytelling Sticks

- 1) You're going to create your own story string, it's there to help you remember the order a story goes in. Especially if you're going to re-tell the story, or it's the first time you've heard it.
- 2) Read a story, or have a story read to you. You need to listen for the main parts of the story.
- 3) Choose the four main parts of the story and draw a picture to remember that part.
- 4) Attach your four pictures in order to your string.
- 5) Use the string to tell the story to someone else.

What story did you choose?

What were the four main parts?